Generally through anapol_greg@ipolyhighschool.org, or vasquez_cynthia@ipolyhighschool.org Students can contact us through Google Classroom, and arrange a meeting through Google Calendar, which can take place via Google Meet/Hangouts

What does Remote Learning look like for Instructional Support @ IPoly?

What kind of extra support can I receive beyond my virtual classroom?

It depends on what you need. If it pertains to a specific class you are having trouble with, contact your teacher immediately via email or through the medium they have already given you. Most issues can be solved through them first.

If you need support understanding content, navigating remote learning, or just reaching out about how to succeed in class, contact the Education Specialist or the Writing Coach to join weekly Student Success Workshops.

If I have other questions about logging on or checking in with teachers, whom can I ask? You can reach out to anyone from Instructional Support.

Frequently Asked Questions for Parents:

Is there still tutoring? How can my student access tutoring?

Yes, tutoring is still available during lunch and after school, Monday through Friday. Students can email Ms. Hernandez at Hernandez_Sandra@IPolyHighSchool.org to confirm an appointment and create a Meet session through their IPoly Gmail accounts.

What else can my student do remotely?

Student Success Workshops will be available for students on a weekly basis. Please encourage your student to join sessions with our Education Specialist and Writing Coach to engage in conversations promoting academic and personal success.

Can I still see how my child is doing academically?

Yes. Instructors will be updating grades regularly on the Aeries Portal. Parents can still access grades, but be patient through this process as we all learn to navigate through it.

How do I contact my student's counselor?

The best way for parents to get a hold of their student's counselor is through email.
